Tasting Notes

A rare grape treasure that originates from Campo Rotaliano, in Trentino, Italy. Crazy dark blue-purple, vibrant nose of blue fruits, botanicals and earth. Flavours are of blue and blackberries, and sour pie cherries stretched across a tense palate of mineral notes. Acidity is bright and refreshing with tannins being slightly chalky but easily tamed by pairing the wine with grilled meats.

Winemaker Notes

Teroldego is one of our most exciting grapes to work with in the cellar. Unlike any other grape I've worked with, the vibrant colour you see in your glass was achieved almost instantly after being crushed. It is a wine reminiscent of Syrah, but with a distinctive edge of vibrant acidity and Italian varietal funk.

Production Notes

These grapes were hand-harvested from our Shuttleworth Creek Vineyard. They were then cluster-sorted and destemmed into a 1-ton, open-top fermenter. After a 4 day cold soak, the ferment was warmed and inoculated. The cap was punched down by hand 3 times daily, and at the ideal tannin extraction, the must was drained and pressed. The wine continued its alcoholic fermentation in French oak barrels (one 2nd-fill & one neutral) and stainless steel, through to dryness. Once malolactic fermentation was complete, the wine was left to mature undisturbed for 13 months before being blended, stabilized and bottled unfiltered and unfiltered.
